The majority for the Republican electhe returns are all in, and Chairman Lindsay, of the State Committee, claims the election of the full State ticket and a majority of the Legislature.

Kentucky and Idaho are close, but both States have been carried for Bryan unless belated returns should make an unexpected change.

In the Pacific Coast States the Republican pluralities are much larger than indicated by the first reports. The Republicans made a clean sweep in California where the majority for the national ticket may reach 40,000. Bryan carries Colorado a reduced majority and the Fusionists have captured the Legislature, which insures the election of a Populist to the United States Senate to succeed Edward O.

Kansas has been carried for McKinley by 10,000 majority, but the vote for Governo is close and the Fusion candidate may win. The Legislature is still in doubt. W. A. Clark has captured Montana and will again be sent to the United States

In the Fifty-seventh Congress, the Republicans will have probably 207 Representatives and 55 Senators, while the combined opposition from present indications will have only 150 in the lower house and 35 Senators.

McKinley's plurality in New York State is 143,622, and that of Odell, for Gov-sixth Congress. The time of the Congress men elected on Tuesday does not begin until March 4 of next year.

The short session of the Fifty-sixth Congress will begin on the first Monday of December, and, as both Houses are fully organized, important bills can be introduced and referred to committees without

It is expected that the Philippine question will occupy the attention of both houses for some time, and, as the result of the election will be accepted as a vote of confidence in the policy of the Administration, the proposed legislation suggested by the President will probably be adopted.

YERKES ADMITS DEFEAT.

Bryan and Beckham Carry Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. Nov. 8 .- Chairman Combs and John W. Yerkes, Republican candidate for Governor, admitted privately this morning that on the face of returns Kentucky would show a Democratic majority of 2,000, thus defeating Yerkes and giving Bryan the State. In a public statement Chairman Combs

"The result is very close. I think that it will probably require the official count to determine how the State goes. When I left headquarters. QUAY'S DEFEAT CLAIMED.

Opponents Declare That They Will Control Keystone Legislature.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8 .- The Demo ratic and anti-Quay Republican managers claim that they will not only have a majority in the next General Assembly on joint ballot, but they will have working majorities in both the Senate and House of Representatives.

These claims are based upon the returns of the legislative elections, which, it is contended, entirely support the estimates of the anti-machine managers prepared before the election. It is upon the assumption that these figures are correct that the opponents of ex-Senator Quay declare that inder no consideration can he control sufficient of the members of the Legislatur win the election to the United States

On joint ballot the anti-Quayites claim On joint ballot the anti-Quayites claim that they will have not less than 145 votes. To the machine is conceded about 104 votes. This leaves five as doubtful. The membership of the Senate is 50 and of the House of Representatives 204, a total of 254 votes on joint ballot. The number necessary to elect on joint ballot is 128. In the Senate the Democratic representation is placed at 14 with 12 anti-Guay Republicans, a total is 143,622, and that of Odell, for Governor, 113,822. The New York Legislature will stand: Senate—Republicans, 36; Democrats, 14. Assembly—Republicans, 106, Democrats, 14. Assembly—Republicans, 106, Democrats, 14. Bryan's plurality in New York county is 27,432, and in the consolidated city it is 27,454. Stanchfield's plurality in Greater New York is 40,742.

The Fifty-seventh Congress elected on Tuesday, unless called in special session by the President, will not meet until the first Monday in December, 1901, and many important questions remain to be settled by the second session of the Fifty-Bixth Congress. The time of the Congress.

MR. GORMAN'S VIEWS.

The ex-Senator on the Result of the Election. BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.-In an interview printed in the "Sun" this morning, ex-Scrator Corman gives his opinion of the causes which led to the Demogratic defeat. Mr. Gorman said:

"It is too early to talk er even think about reorganizing the Democratic party. Secretary Hay and Attorney General Griggs Likely to Retire.

Mr. Root Holds the Ear of the Pres. ident, and His Relations With Other Advisers of Mr. McKinley Are Said to Be Strained-Whitelaw Reid and Senator Carter Suggested

Politicians have already entered upon he discussion of the probable composition of President McKinley's next Cabinet. It was said today that there is little prospect of a sweeping change in this respect. It is generally believed that Secretary Hay will retire. Despite official statements to the contrary, it is known at the State Department and the White House that the relaions between Mr. McKinley and Mr. Hay are not cordial. The reason which is assigned for this by those who are informed, is that the relations between Mr. Hay and Mr. Root are not pleasant and that Mr. Root is in the asendent in the confidence of the Presi-

It is said that the culminating conflict between the Secretaries of State and War ame when the Chinese situation occupied the attention of the Administration. Mr. Root, it is declared, sought to shape the American policy and to take from Mr. Hay authority and such credit as might be obtained in that respect. It is pointed to as a fact that when Mr. Hay was at Sunapee he was consulted, when at all, in the most perfunctory way, and that the ear of the President was held by Mr. Root. Some of the friends of Mr. Hay sought to divert attention from this condition of affairs by circulating reports that the Sec-retary of State was ill. These reports were contradicted by Secretary Hay and the members of his family. They said that Mr. Hay was indisposed, and needed only rest. During the time that Mr. Hay needed rest Mr. Root was very active. He did not need Since Mr. Root's advent in the Cabinet it is said that he has permitted no op-portunity to pass whereby he might cul-tivate the opinion of the President. The President never leaves Washington that the Secretary of War with Adjutant Gen-eral Corbin does not go to the railroad station to bid him God speed. The Presi-dent rarely returns to Washington that Secretary Root with Adjutant General Corbin does not meet him at the station. The only instances where, upon the President's return to the city, the Secretary of War has not met him, have been when Mr. Root got upon the President's train at some point up the line and came back to the city with him.

Mr Bryan's attitude. He says there was an ante-election agreement that in the even; of a Fusion victory there would be a Populist Senator, the incumbent, Senator Allen, and a Democrat—either William H. Cabinet days. His visits have been brief. It is argued by persons who make the semi-public life of the President a study, that Mr. Root will remain in the Cabinet and this being the case, Mr. Hay will not. Another member of the Cabinet popularly slated for retirement is Attorney General Griggs. In this matter also it is claimed that Secretary Root is involved. The Attorney General is the legal adviser of the President. But it is said Attorney General Griggs is not. The President receives his advice upon constitutional questions from Secretary Root, whose questions from Secretary Root, whose reputation is that of an able lawyer. But this is not pleasing to Mr. Griggs, and it is believed that he will retire. While Secretary Hay can use as his

as a propage successor to Mr. Hay.
Mr. Long will continue as Secretary of the Navy, should he desire to. His relations with Mr. Root are said to be pleasant, and he and the President are good friends. Several times Mr. Long has thought of resigning, but has been dissuaded by the President. It is thought suaded by the President. It is thought that Mr. Long will remain.
Secretary Wilson will be likely to continue in the Cabinet. He revels in his work, and is on good terms apparently with all the other Cabinet members. Mr. Wil-son is a plain man in his habits and aspira-tions, and has a strong feeling toward agsatisfied with his position. Postmaster General Smith will probably stay in the Cabinet. He is proud of the nonor and distinction-attaching to the of-ice, likes authority, and has given satisfaction to the President and the Presi-leat's advisors In the matter of the office of Secretary of the Interior there is little speculation because there is little interest. Not excepting the office of Secretary of Agriculture, the office of Secretary of the Interior is considered the least important in the Cabinet. It is the least attractive and the least interesting to the average man. There is a great amount of dull, routine work which the Secretary of the Interior must do, but the actual brain work of the department is done by the specialists there.

The work, as a rule, comes to the Secretary in complete form from the Commissioner of Patents, from the Commissioner of Perents, from the Commissioner of the General Land Office, from the Chief of the General Chief of the General Land Office, from the Chief of the Chief of the Ch ogical Survey, etc. The office of Secretary of Agriculture presents many interesting features to a man who cares for agriculture, but few men are interested at the same time in pension mat-ters, geology, land laws, railroad grants, ral claims, patents, and reindeer in Alaska.
